2005 University Press Book Award

Ross Chambers has been selected as this year's winner of the University Press Book Award for his work Untimely Interventions: AIDS Writing, Testimonial, and the Rhetoric of Haunting.

The Press Book Award is given to the best work published by the University Press in the prior two calendar years and written by a member, or members, of the University of Michigan faculty. The Award, which carries an honorarium of $1,000, was announced officially to the University community and presented to Chambers at a special program on October 5th, 2005.
