III. Generalizations and Stereotypes (page 8)

A. (page 8)
Answers will vary; the greater the total number of adjectives, the more effective the exercise.

B. (page 8)

_The Blind Men and the Elephant_

Six blind men and a young boy went into a forest to find an elephant. Obviously, none of the blind men had ever seen one, but they wanted to find out what an elephant was like. They did not really know what to expect. The young child directed the men to where an elephant was standing. The first man ran into the side of the elephant and said, “An elephant is like a wall.” The second man felt the tusk of the elephant and said, “This elephant is like a spear.” The third man touched the trunk of the elephant with his hands and said, “The elephant is like a snake.” The fourth man rubbed the elephant’s ear and said, “This elephant is like a fan.” The fifth man reached out his hand and felt the elephant’s knee and said, “It’s like a tree.” The sixth man grabbed onto its tail and said, “This elephant is a rope.”

Each of the blind men believed that his judgment was correct. In fact, the men argued for years, each man insisting that his personal opinion was the right one.

C. (page 9)
The message is that it is important to look at a culture from different points of view; it’s impossible to fully understand someone by first impressions, by only looking at individual parts, etc.
D. (page 9)
Answers will vary. This activity prepares the students for the dangers of stereotyping.

E./F. (pages 9–10)
Answers will vary. Asking the students these questions about their statements may lead to a fruitful discussion.

- How do you know this?
- Who told you this?
- Where did you find this out?

G. (page 11)
1. stereotype—a belief about someone that is not always based on facts
2. fact—a statement about someone or something that can usually be measured

H. (page 11)
7. F (this last sentence shows students that facts do not always have to be statistics)

I. (page 11)
No, it’s more of a general statement because of the word many.

J. (page 12)
Answers will vary, but encourage students to use different qualifiers.

K. (page 13)
Answers may vary but could include:
1. short
2. shy, quiet, timid
3. open
4. unhelpful
5. passive
6. dependent
7. loud
8. lazy

L. (page 14)
Answers will vary.
IV. How to Talk about Culture (page 14)

B. (page 15)

Phrases that express opinion:
- I think
- I thought
- The point I’m making is
- if you ask me

Phrases that express agreement:
- I couldn’t agree more
- You can say that again!

Phrases that express disagreement
- You both have a right to your opinion but if you ask me
- You could be right, but don’t you think
- Are you kidding?
- I respect your opinion, maybe

“Are you kidding?” is the most direct and should only be used in informal contexts.

C. (page 16)

Answers will vary slightly. Explain that the expressions may be more or less direct in certain contexts.

D. (page 16)

Answers will vary, but encourage students to experiment with different expressions.

E. (page 16)

Amy: Yeah. She’s really a great professor; I love that class.
John: I do too. Do you like that novel we’re reading now?
Amy: Not really. I like modern British literature much better.
John: British literature is my specialization. Are you an English major?
Amy: Yes. I’m specializing in British and Irish poetry.
John: That sounds really interesting. How long have you been at Morton College?
Amy: Two years. I transferred here from Illinois State University.

3. Goal #3
4. Goal #1
5. Goal #2

E. (page 104)
Answers will vary. Some possible solutions include:
1. Provide more money for teachers to continue their education (Master's degrees or provide more in-service professional development for teachers.)
2. Conduct searches of students' lockers, educate students about the dangers, severely punish students who bring guns to school.
3. Keep children in school by providing special programs.
4. Provide more adult education.
5. Raise the standards in math classes even at early levels so that students know more by the time they get into high school and college; provide extra help in math (after school) for students; have students tutor students.

1. What do you think is the major difference between a nursing home and a retirement home?
   Answers will vary but students usually bring up the medical care provided at a nursing home.

2. What are three factors that usually affect an elderly person’s living situation? The proximity (distance) of older Americans to the rest of their family, their economic and physical status, and their personal preferences.

3. True or false: The more children there are in a family, the more likely the elderly parents are to live with one of their children. True

4. What is a mother-in-law suite? A separate room or apartment in a house where the “mother-in-law” or grandparents live.

5. Some older Americans are more likely to live alone. Why? They have the financial means and good health to do so.

6. What are the advantages of the elderly living alone? Independence

7. What type of activities do retirement communities often offer the residents? Golfing, dancing, shopping

IV. American Homes (page 148)

A. (page 148)
The average single family home was 2,349 square feet in 2004, compared to 1,695 square feet in 1974. The size of the kitchen alone has doubled to nearly 300 square feet. Ground-floor ceilings have grown by more than a foot, and bedrooms are now an average of 12 feet by 12 feet, compared to 9 feet by 10 feet 30 years ago. That’s more home for fewer people. Today’s average family size is 2.6 people. Then, it was 3.1 people.
