Contents

Introduction xi

Notes on Typographic Conventions and Terms xiii

PART 1 What Is Computer-Assisted Language Learning?

CHAPTER 1 ■ The Wonderful World of Computer-Assisted Language Learning (CALL) 3

What Computers Bring to Language Learning 4

CHAPTER 2 ■ Getting Started 9

Computers as Tutor vs. Tool 10
Concepts vs. Procedures 10
Appreciate What You Already Know 11
Tools of the Trade 12
Get Training When You Need It 14

CHAPTER 3 ■ Ten Suggestions for Teachers with Limited CALL Experience 15

TIP 1 ■ Focus on activities, not software titles. 16
TIP 2 ■ Wade in slowly. 17
TIP 3 ■ Teach. 18
TIP 4 ■ Appreciate the richness of the computing environment. 19
TIP 5 ■ Prepare and be patient. 20
TIP 6 ■ Don't let technology drive your class. 21
TIP 7 ■ Invest time in training and orientation. 23
TIP 8 ■ Pace activities. 23
TIP 9 ■ Be a resource guide. 25
TIP 10 ■ Orchestrate communicative activities. 26

PART 2 CALL Classroom Activities

CHAPTER 4 ■ Writing Activities 31

Activity 1 ■ Word-Processing Basics 32
Activity 2 ■ Academic (Manuscript) Formatting 36
Activity 3 ■ Using Built-in Language Tools 38
Activity 4 ■ Using Other Writing Resources 41
Activity 5 ■ Story Starter 44
Activity 6 ■ Interview 45
Activity 7 ■ Business Writing 46
Activity 8 ■ Editing Student Writing 48

CHAPTER 5 ■ Internet Activities 59

Writing Activities 60
Activity 1 ■ Electronic Postcards 60
Activity 2 ■ Online Writing Labs (OWLs) 62
Activity 3 ■ Letter of Complaint 64
Activity 4 ■ Keypals (E-mail Pen Pals) 65
Activity 5 ■ Mailing Lists 72
Activity 6 ■ Chat 75
Activity 7 ■ MOO 80
Content Activities 82
Activity 8 ■ Media News 82
Activity 9 ■ Effective Browser Use and Web Searching 87
Activity 10 ■ Tour Guide 92

CHAPTER 6 ■ Audio/Video Activities 95

Stand-Alone Video and Audio 95
Audio 97
Activity 1 ■ Using Textbook Audio 97
Activity 2 ■ Teacher Recordings 100
Activity 3 ■ Student Recordings 102
Activity 4 ■ Online Broadcasts 107
Video 108
Activity 5 ■ Scenes from TV or Film 108
Activity 6 ■ TV Ads 113

CHAPTER 7 ■ Project Activities 117

Web Projects 118
- Activity 1 ■ Evaluating Websites 119
- Activity 2 ■ Purpose and Audience 121
- Activity 3 ■ Web Page Anatomy 124
- Activity 4 ■ Authoring Mechanics—Recreating a Demo Page 129
- Activity 5 ■ Using Website Wizards, Templates, and HTML Export 133

Desktop Publishing Projects 139
- Activity 6 ■ Class Books 139

Video Projects 145
- Activity 7 ■ Creating a Video Program with Stock Content 148
- Activity 8 ■ Creating a Video Program and Shooting Video 151

PowerPoint: A Primer 154
- Activity 9 ■ Creating a Slide Show with Stock Content 158
- Activity 10 ■ Creating an Original Slide Show 161

Survey Projects 163
- Activity 11 ■ Conducting a Survey 166

CHAPTER 8 ■ Text-Based Activities 169

Concordance 170
- Activity 1 ■ Online Concordance 171

Activities 173
- Activity 2 ■ Other Internet Resources for Language Contexts 177
- Activity 3 ■ Typing Practice 181

CHAPTER 9 ■ Content Activities 183

- Activity 1 ■ Grammar, Content, Skills, Integrated-Skills Programs, and Games 184
- Activity 2 ■ Custom-Authored Lessons 190

PART 3 Technical Considerations

CHAPTER 10 ■ Platform and Computer Compatibility 199

Platform—A Primer 200
Factors in Deciding on a Computer Platform 201
Why Alternatives to Windows? 217
Who Should Decide? 217

PART 4 Appendices

APPENDIX A ■ Glossary of Terms 220

APPENDIX B ■ File Saving and Sharing Options 227

APPENDIX C ■ A Thinking Person's E-Mail (Netiquette) 229

APPENDIX D ■ Web Browser Basics 233

APPENDIX E ■ Clear and Simple Web Authoring 236

APPENDIX F ■ Fair Use Guidelines for Educational Multimedia 240

APPENDIX G ■ Sample Letter to Secure Publisher Permission to Digitize or Distribute Material 245

APPENDIX H ■ Selected CALL Resources 247

Index 251