

The Breastfeeding Café

The Breastfeeding Café

---

Mothers Share the Joys, Challenges, & Secrets of Nursing

Barbara L. Behrmann, Ph.D.

The University of Michigan Press
Ann Arbor

Copyright © by Barbara L. Behrmann 2005
All rights reserved
Published in the United States of America by
The University of Michigan Press
Manufactured in the United States of America
♻️ Printed on acid-free paper

2008 2007 2006 2005 4 3 2 1

No part of this publication may be reproduced, stored in a retrieval system, or transmitted in any form or by any means, electronic, mechanical, or otherwise, without the written permission of the publisher.

A CIP catalog record for this book is available from the British Library.

Library of Congress Cataloging-in-Publication Data

Behrmann, Barbara L.

The breastfeeding café : mothers share the joys, challenges, and secrets of nursing / Barbara L. Behrmann.

p. cm.

Includes bibliographical references and index.

ISBN 0-472-06875-X (pbk. : alk. paper)

1. Breast feeding. I. Title.

RJ216.B345 2005

649'.33—dc22

2004020269

Grateful acknowledgment is made to King Features Syndicate for permission to reprint Rick Kirkman and Jerry Scott's cartoons from "Baby Blues." © Baby Blues Partnership. Reprinted with special permission of King Features Syndicate; and to Joan McCartney for permission to reprint her cartoons from The Other Side Makes Chocolate and We Should Do This More Often.

This book is intended for educational purposes and should not be used as a substitute for professional medical advice. Neither the publisher nor the author shall bear responsibility for any negative impact allegedly caused either directly or indirectly by the information contained within it. While every effort has been made to ensure the accuracy of the information, each person's health needs are unique. For recommendations on your own particular situation, please consult a qualified health care provider.

To nursing mothers everywhere and to those whose efforts were not and are not supported. And to my former nurslings, Emily Rose and Rachel Joy—my greatest teachers.

Acknowledgments

Like breastfeeding itself, this book benefited profoundly from the support, encouragement, and assistance of others. First and foremost, my heartfelt thanks go out to the incredible women who eagerly and enthusiastically shared their stories with me. Their candor and honesty are the heart and soul of this project, and I will be forever grateful. Probably the hardest task I faced was having to significantly reduce the number of stories in the book and shorten those that are included. (My contributors have my editor's permission to blame her!) Although I regret that I was not able to include everyone's story, each and every conversation and letter deeply informed and enriched this book.

There are two women for whom I have endless appreciation, Diane Wiessinger and Lauren Korfine. Had it not been for Diane, my own lactation consultant extraordinaire, I would never have written this book. Diane not only provided me with ever-ready technical expertise, always-wise counsel, and a generous spirit but unwaveringly believed in this project from its inception. Diane challenged me to think outside the box, and her insight into subtle cultural nuances has been invaluable. Lauren—doula, psychologist, and overall wise woman—shared her critical knowledge of feminism, motherhood, and the politics of the body. She eagerly read chapter after chapter, draft after draft, providing sound feedback on many levels. Her enthusiasm sustained me through many months, and her unexpected presence in my life was a genuine gift of self.

Deepest thanks to Alex Skutt, Gerry Coles, Cindy Gration, and Bryna Fireside for providing invaluable insight into the world of publishing and to Irene “Zee” Zahava, who always was willing to lend an ear, offer advice, and provide ongoing encouragement.

I am grateful to several anonymous reviewers for their insight and suggestions; to Katherine Dettwyler for going above and beyond the reviewer’s call of duty; to Karin Cadwell, Henci Goer, Kathleen Huggins, Ruth Lawrence, Nancy Morbacher, Noelle Oxenhandler, Catherine Taylor, Peggy Vincent, and Marsha Walker for reviewing parts of the manuscript and for sound editorial suggestions; and to Linda Ziedrich and Patty Berhaus for helpful comments regarding earlier draft chapters. I am also grateful to the following lactation consultants who provided me with helpful technical information on specific issues: Arnetta Dailey, Ruth DeRosa, Patricia Drazin, Catherine Watson Genna, Lisa Marasco, Linda Pohl, Natalie Shenk, and Linda Stewart.

Heartfelt thanks to the wonderful women who provided me with leads for stories. Space does not permit me to name them all, but this book would not exist without them. Special thanks, also, to Nancy Coffrey, who made it possible for me to include Doua X. Thao’s story, and to Ann Allen and the “Sislist” for their ongoing cheerleading and camaraderie.

I am indebted to Ellen McCarthy, the most supportive, enthusiastic editor I could have hoped for, and to the entire staff at the University of Michigan Press, all of whom have made my first publishing experience a delight.

A huge thank you to Annie Campbell for creating the fabulous painting on the cover and to Eric Lindstrom for his brilliantly creative mind. Grateful acknowledgment to cartoonists Joan McCartney, Rick Kirkman, and Jerry Scott for granting me permission to reproduce their work.

Deepest thanks to the wonderful women at the Bunny Trail and the Coddington Road Community Center, who provided outstanding child care when my children were younger, and to Katina Varzos, fast becoming a wonderful midwife.

Last, but definitely not least, I wish to thank my family. Loretta and Arthur Behrmann, my wonderful parents and greatest cheerleaders, have always offered me encouragement, support, and unconditional love. The world would be a better place if there were more parents (and grandparents) like them. Enormous love and gratitude to my clever, analytical, and supportive husband, Mark Fowler, who has lived with this project for many years and without whom this book would not exist. And, of course, my deepest appreciation to my children, Emily Rose and Rachel Joy, whose very lives made this book possible.

Contents

	Sources of Information and Support	xiii
	Welcome to the Breastfeeding Café	i
ONE	A Legacy from the Past	5
	STORIES OF DISEMPOWERMENT AND DETERMINATION
	Scientific Motherhood
	Challenging the Status Quo
	Legacies Live On
TWO	Welcome to Motherhood	24
	STORIES OF INITIATION, TENACITY, AND ADJUSTMENT
	The Birthing-Breastfeeding Connection
	Wandering through the Wilderness
	Living in Our Bodies
	Special Circumstances
THREE	No Mother Is an Island	60
	STORIES OF FAMILY, COMMUNITY, AND SUPPORT
	It Takes a Village
	A Family Affair
	Bosom Buddies
FOUR	Becoming Wiser	90
	STORIES OF EXPERIENCE, INSIGHT, AND DISCOVERY
	The Discovery Zone
	Humor and Antics
	The Warrior Within
	Benefits and Rewards
	Memory and Connection

FIVE	A Balancing Act	124
	STORIES OF READJUSTMENT, IDENTITY, AND BOUNDARIES
	Finding Time, Finding Self
	. . . And Baby Makes Four (or Five or Six . . .)
	Parenting in the Dark
	Permeable Boundaries
SIX	Doing It All	157
	STORIES OF MOTHERHOOD AND LIVELIHOOD
	Plugged In
	Beyond the Pump
SEVEN	An Embodied Relationship	187
	STORIES OF CONTRADICTION, SEXUALITY, AND INTIMACY
	The “Official Breast”
	In the Public Eye
	Sexuality, Sensuality, and Intimacy
EIGHT	Finding Strength	224
	STORIES OF EMPOWERMENT, RECLAMATION, AND HEALING
	Empowerment
	Reclaiming Ownership
	Healing
NINE	Moving On and Letting Go	257
	STORIES OF WEANING AND OTHER MILESTONES
	Constrained Choices
	My Child, Myself
	Honoring a Milestone
	Where Do We Go from Here?	288
	Support and Information on the Web	293
	References	295
	Index	301

Sources of Information and Support

These organizations and references, all of which offer excellent information and/or support, can be found on the following pages:

AABA	African-American Breastfeeding Alliance	68
ABRW	The Adoptive Breastfeeding Resource Website	58
ACNM	American College of Nurse-Midwives	33
ALACE	Association of Labor Assistants and Childbirth Educators	62
Ameda by Hollister		168
BFAR	Breastfeeding after Reduction	197
CAPPA	Childbirth and Postpartum Professional Association	62
CIMS	Coalition for Improving Maternity Services	31
DONA	Doulas of North America	62
Girl-Mom		231
HMBANA	Human Milk Banking Association of North America	83
ICAN	International Cesarean Awareness Network	31
ILCA	International Lactation Consultant Association	62
LLLI	La Leche League International	63
MANA	Midwives Alliance of North America	33
March of Dimes		148
Medela		168
MOBI	Mothers Overcoming Breastfeeding Issues	65
Mocha Moms		236
NACC	National Association of Childbearing Centers	35
Pumping Moms		240
YAAPS	Yet Another Alternative Parenting Site	43