Contents

To the Instructor ix
To the Student xi

1 The U.S. as It Welcomes the 20th Century: The Rise of Large Industry and a Cry for Social Reform 1
   The Jungle by Upton Sinclair
   Language Focus: Practicing Description
   Link to Today: College Drinking—What’s So Special about a Fake ID?

2 The U.S. between World Wars: The Roaring Twenties, Black Tuesday, and Beyond 22
   WPA Photography
   Language Focus: Using Backchanneling Strategies
   Link to Today: The Social Security Debate—Who Will Pay for the Young When They Get Old?

3 The U.S. after World War II: Consumer Culture, Suburbia, and the Baby Boom 44
   Pop Art by Andy Warhol
   Language Focus: Using Hedging Techniques
   Link to Today: Credit Card Companies on College Campuses—How Much Is Too Much?
The U.S. at Midcentury: Desegregation and the Demand for Equality and Civil Rights 61
“I Have a Dream” by Dr. Martin Luther King, Jr.
Language Focus: Using Parallelism
Link to Today: Affirmative Action and College Admissions—Who Should Go to College?

The U.S. Counterrevolution of the Sixties: Sex, Drugs, and Rock ’n’ Roll 79
On the Road by Jack Kerouac
Language Focus: Using Less Direct Speech
Link to Today: Sex Education at School—Contraception or Abstinence?

The U.S. in the Cold War Era: Defending Democracy from McCarthy to Vietnam 95
“Like Emily Dickinson,” a Poem from the Vietnam War
Women’s Memorial Project
Language Focus: Understanding Poetry and Figurative Meaning
Link to Today: Campus ROTC—Who Are Those Students in Uniform?

The U.S. in the Seventies: Women, the Feminist Movement, and the ERA 119
Billie Jean King’s Autobiography
Language Focus: Using Quoted vs. Reported Speech
Link to Today: Take Our Daughters to Work Day—What Is the Future for Girls?

The U.S. as It Looks toward the 21st Century: Diversity vs. Unity in the New Millennium 136
The Franklin D. Roosevelt Memorial Wheelchair Statue
Language Focus: Using Compare and Contrast Transition Words
Link to Today: Equal Access on Campus—Can Everybody Have a Share?

Comments and Suggestions for the Teacher 157
Answer Key 165