Elevator Music
Elevator Music

A Surreal History of Muzak®, Easy-Listening, and Other Moodsong®

Revised and Expanded Edition

Joseph Lanza

University of Michigan Press
Ann Arbor
Copyright © Joseph Lanza 2004
All rights reserved
Published in the United States of America by
The University of Michigan Press
Manufactured in the United States of America
Printed on acid-free paper

2007 2006 2005 2004 4 3 2 1

No part of this publication may be reproduced, stored in a retrieval system, or transmitted in any form or by any means, electronic, mechanical, or otherwise, without the written permission of the publisher.

A CIP catalog record for this book is available from the British Library.

Library of Congress Cataloging-in-Publication Data applied for
ISBN 0-472-08942-0

This book is a result of research and ruminations about a much-neglected musical category, elevator music. Because Muzak® Corporation has been a leading source of this art form, much of this book concerns that company’s technological and philosophical genesis. I culled all of my information about Muzak from the existing literature (from both the mainstream press and Muzak’s company archives) as well as telephone and in-person interviews with various Muzak employees, and others connected with the company at one time or another, who were generous enough to help me write this story. However, many of my conclusions about Muzak’s ultimate cultural impact are speculative and do not necessarily reflect Muzak Corporation’s official, present-day policies.

—Joseph Lanza

Muzak® is a registered trademark of Muzak LLC.

Moodsong® is a U.S. registered trademark.

Every effort has been made to locate the holders of copyrighted material.