Acknowledgments

First, I would like to thank the chapter authors, who all contributed such excellent work. Second, I'm very grateful to my editor, Ellen McCarthy, who supported this project from the beginning, coached me through the process of making it happen, and recruited very constructive reviewers. Third, I thank Clifford Lehman, Catherine Weinberger, Deborah Figart, and Johanna Brenner, who read and critiqued my contributions, strengthening them in all cases. Fourth, I'd like to thank my parents, Alan and Carolyn King, who have always encouraged me. And finally, I'd like to thank Clifford Lehman, my partner in all things, who helped me think through every aspect of this book from its inception.
