Contents

I: Being a Poet: Comments and Interviews

A Just Right Resonance 3

“It Still Takes a Spark from Heaven”: An Interview with Amy Godine 5

Contradictory Influences 11

Poems on Poets: Emily Dickinson, John Berryman, John Ashbery, Galway Kinnell, Richard Hugo 17

The Art of Poetry: The Paris Review Interview with William Young 22

Opportunities to Retrieve Paradise 42

Speaking of Writing . . . 46

Some Suggestions from Experience 50

The Answers Are Inside the Mountains 52

II: On Workshops and Poetry Classes

Meeting the Workshop 57

The Minuet 59

Goals 62

An Allegiance to the Most Tongue-Tied: A Discussion of Workshops with Claire Cooperstein 65

A Memory Map Exercise 73

Workshop Insights 79
The Classroom Contract 84
From a Class on Poetry 90
Farewell after a “Craft Lecture” 93

III: Daily Writing

Three Poems on Writing 97
Three Days, Four Poems: An Interview with Vincent Wixon and Michael Markee 100
Four Early Poems: “Vacation,” “Fall Journey,” “Traveling through the Dark,” “Back Home” 121
On Revision: An Interview with Vincent Wixon and Michael Markee 130
“An Indulgence in Loss”: A Dialogue with Richard Hugo 153
Just Thinking 177