Acknowledgments

This book grew out of my doctoral dissertation at the University of Colorado. Among the many who have provided suggestions and comments on this research and helped make this manuscript more readable I wish to acknowledge Brian A'Hearn, Nathaniel Beck, Steve Chan, William J. Dixon, Andrew J. Enterline, Paul F. Diehl, Scott Gates, Erik A. Gartzke, Håvard Hegre, Matthew Johnson, Gary King, David A. Lake, David Lalman, Mark I. Lichbach, John McIver, John O'Loughlin, Bruce M. Russett, William R. Thompson, Richard M. Tucker, and Jonathan Wilkenfeld. Most of all, I am heavily indebted to Michael D. Ward. Without his help, advice, and encouragement, this manuscript would never have seen the light of day.

The manuscript was completed while I was at the University of Glasgow, and I am grateful to the director of the Faculty of the Social Sciences' postgraduate training program, Charles A. Woolfson, for his support and encouragement. I am also grateful for financial support from the Research Council of Norway and the Human Security Program at Harvard University. I would also like to express my appreciation to three maybe not so anonymous reviewers and Jeremy Shine of the University of Michigan Press.

Finally, I would like to thank my parents for their support and understanding.
