

CONTRIBUTORS

Tom Baker is the Connecticut Mutual Professor of Law at the Insurance Law Center of the University of Connecticut. He is an alumnus of both Harvard University and Harvard University School of Law. Professor Baker has published several legal articles, is the coauthor of Embracing Risk: The Changing Culture of Insurance and Responsibility, and is the author of Insurance Law and Policy.

Donald Braman is currently studying law at Yale Law School. He received his PhD in anthropology from Yale University prior to attending law school. Mr. Braman has published on a variety of subjects and recently completed a book on the effects of incarceration on inmates' families, entitled Doing Time on the Outside.

Brannon P. Denning is Associate Professor at the Cumberland School of Law at Samford University. Professor Denning received his BA from the University of the South, his JD from the University of Tennessee School of Law, and his LLM from Yale Law School. He has published many articles dealing with constitutional issues, served as the editor of Gun Control and Gun Rights: A Reader and a Guide, and continues to collaborate on updates to Bittker on the Regulation of Interstate Commerce and Foreign Commerce.

Tom Diaz is a senior policy analyst at the Violence Policy Center. He received his BA from the University of Florida and his JD from Georgetown University Law Center. The author of many studies on firearms and gun violence, Mr. Diaz is also the author of On the Front Lines: Making Gun Interdiction Work—written for the Law Enforcement Division of the Brady Center to Prevent Handgun Violence—and Making a Killing: The Business of Guns in America.

Howard M. Erichson is Professor of Law at Seton Hall University School of Law. He earned his BA from Harvard University and his JD from the New York University School of Law. His publications include multiple articles regarding mass tort law and the forthcoming American College of Trial Lawyers Mass Tort Litigation Manual, for which he is a reporter.

Thomas O. Farrish is a research assistant to Professor Tom Baker at the University of Connecticut.

Shannon Frattaroli is an Assistant Scientist at the Health Policy and Management Department of the Johns Hopkins Bloomberg School of Public Health and is affiliated with the Center for Injury Research and Policy and the Center for Gun Research and Policy at Johns Hopkins University. Ms. Frattaroli received her BA from UCLA, her MPH from the Johns Hopkins School of Public Health, and her PhD from Johns Hopkins University. Her publications primarily concentrate on gun violence and policy.

John Gastil is Associate Professor of communications at the University of Washington. He received his BA from Swarthmore College and his PhD from the University of Wisconsin-Madison. Professor Gastil is the author of two books, Democracy in Small Groups and By Popular Demand: Revitalizing Representative Democracy through Deliberate Elections.

Dan M. Kahan is the Elizabeth K. Dollard Professor of Law at Yale Law School. He received his BA from Middlebury College and his JD from Harvard Law School. Professor Kahan's publications include Urgent Times: Policing and Rights in Inner-City Communities, of which he is a coauthor.

Don B. Kates is a civil liberties lawyer, criminologist, and retired professor. He is a graduate of Reed College and Yale Law School. A prolific author on civil liberties and violence issues, Mr. Kates is the editor of Firearms and Violence: Issues of Public Policy, the coauthor of Armed:

New Perspectives on Gun Control and The Great American Gun Debate: Essays on Firearms and Violence, and the author of Restricting Handguns.

Timothy D. Lytton is Professor of Law at Albany Law School, where he teaches torts, legislation, constitutional law, alternative dispute resolution, and jurisprudence. He holds BA and JD degrees from Yale University and is the author of scholarly articles on civil litigation and the philosophy of law.

Julie Samia Mair is Assistant Scientist at the Health Policy and Management Department of the Johns Hopkins Bloomberg School of Public Health. She received her BA from Smith College, her JD from the University of Pennsylvania, and her MPH from the Johns Hopkins School of Public Health. Professor Mair is the author of numerous articles.

Richard A. Nagareda is Professor of Law at Vanderbilt University Law School. He earned his AB from Stanford University and his JD from the University of Chicago School of Law. Professor Nagareda has published articles on mass tort litigation and evidence.

Peter H. Schuck is the Simeon E. Baldwin Professor of Law at Yale Law School and is Visiting Professor at New York University School of Law. He received his BA from Cornell University, his JD from Harvard Law School, his LLM from New York University School of Law, and his MA from Harvard University. He is the author and editor of books on topics ranging from administrative law to tort law to citizenship; his most recent work is Diversity in America: Keeping the Government at a Safe Distance.

Stephen D. Sugarman is the Agnes Roddy Robb Professor of Law at the University of California at Berkeley School of Law, Boalt Hall. He earned both his BS and JD from Northwestern University. He is the author and coauthor of over ten books focusing on a broad segment of legal issues.

Stephen Teret is Director of the Center for Law and the Public's Health at the Johns Hopkins Bloomberg School of Public Health and is professor at both the Center for Gun Policy and Research and the Center for Injury Research and Policy. Professor Teret received his BA from St. Lawrence University, his JD from Brooklyn Law School, and his MPH from the Johns Hopkins School of Public Health. He is the author of many articles on violence and injury prevention.

Wendy Wagner is Professor of Law at the University of Texas School of Law. She received her BA from Hanover College and both her master's degree in environmental science and her JD from Yale University. Professor Wagner is the author of numerous articles and book chapters. She is also the author of the white papers "Enforcement against Concentrations of Toxic Pollutions in Texas" and "Legal Aspects of Regulatory Use of Environmental Modeling."