
Contents

| | |
|--|------------|
| Introduction and Background to Pronunciation Teaching | 1 |
| Part 1: What Teachers Need to Know about Phonology | 30 |
| Chapter 1 | |
| Suprasegmentals: Thought Groups, Prominence, Word Stress, Intonation, and Pitch Jumps | 31 |
| John Murphy | |
| Chapter 2 | |
| Segmentals: Phonemes, Allophones, Vowel Sounds, Consonants, and Squeeze Zones | 70 |
| John Murphy | |
| Part 2: Descriptions of Whole Courses | 107 |
| Chapter 3 | |
| Pronunciation and Communication for Graduate Student Researchers and Conference Presenters | 108 |
| Carolyn Samuel | |
| Chapter 4 | |
| Oral Communication for International Graduate Students and Teaching Assistants | 130 |
| Veronica G. Sardegna & Alison McGregor | |
| Chapter 5 | |
| A University-Based Online “Pronunciation Tutor” | 155 |
| Edna F. Lima & John M. Levis | |
| Chapter 6 | |
| Phonology Applied: Developing the Oral Communication Skills of L1 and L2 Speakers | 176 |
| Graeme Couper | |

| | |
|--|------------|
| Chapter 7 | |
| Advanced English Pronunciation for Undergraduate and Graduate Students | 197 |
| Lynn Henrichsen | |
| Chapter 8 | |
| Small Group Tutoring in ESL Pronunciation for Pre-Professional Undergraduates | 218 |
| Christina Michaud & Marnie Reed | |
| Chapter 9 | |
| Teaching the Pronunciation of English as a Lingua Franca in England and in Spain | 239 |
| Laura Patsko & Robin Walker | |
| Chapter 10 | |
| A Haptic Pronunciation Course for First-Year ESL College Students | 262 |
| Nathan Kielstra (with William Acton) | |
| Chapter 11 | |
| The Color Vowel Chart: Teaching Pronunciation to Beginning-Level Adults | 285 |
| Karen Taylor de Caballero & Claire Schneider | |
| Chapter 12 | |
| Teaching Prosody to ESL Middle Schoolers: Pre-Teens and Teens | 307 |
| Tamara Jones | |
| Epilogue: Where Do We Go from Here? | 327 |
| Appendix: Transcription Symbols | 341 |
| Contributor Bios | 343 |
| Index | 346 |