

Contents

Introduction: Regarding Skate Life / 1

“The mix of sunshine and rebellion is really intoxicating”:
American Mythologies, Rebellious Boys, and the Multiple Appeals of Skateboarding’s Corresponding Culture, 1950–2006 / 27

“Freedom on four wheels”: Individuality, Self-Expression, and Authentic Masculinity in a Skateboarding Community / 78

“Why is it the things that make you a man tend to be such dumb things to do?”: Never-Ending Adolescence and the (De)stabilization of White Masculine Power on MTV / 111

“It’s just what’s possible”: Imagining Alternative Masculinities and Performing White Male Dominance in Niche Skateboarding Videos / 139

“You do it together, and everyone just does it in their own way”:
Corresponding Cultures and (Anti)patriarchal Masculinity / 172

Method / 181

Notes / 183

Bibliography / 211