

Contents

1. International Communication Research: Critical Reflections and a New Point of Departure Chin-Chuan Lee	I
2. Window Shopping: On Internationalizing "International Communication" Elihu Katz	29
3. Beyond Lazarsfeld: International Communication Research and Its Production of Knowledge Tsan-Kuo Chang	41
4. Beyond Modernization and the Four Theories of the Press Jan Servaes	66
5. Professional Models in Journalism: Between Homogenization and Diversity Paolo Mancini	90
6. Conditions of Capital: Global Media in Local Contexts Michael Curtin	109
7. The Enduring Strength of Hollywood: The "Imperial Adventure" Genre and Avatar Jaap van Ginneken	134

8. Resurrecting the Imperial Dimension in International Communication Colin Sparks	156
9. De-Westernization and Cosmopolitan Media Studies Silvio Waisbord	178
10. Local Experiences, Cosmopolitan Theories: On Cultural Relevance in International Communication Research Chin-Chuan Lee	201
11. Theorizing Media Production as a Quasi-Autonomous Field: A Reassessment of China News Studies Judy Polumbaum	225
12. Translation, Communication, and East-West Understanding Zhang Longxi	244
13. Public Spheres, Fields, Networks: Western Concepts for a De-Westernizing World? Rodney Benson	258
14. Cosmopolitanism and International Communication: Understanding Civil Society Actors Peter Dahlgren	281
15. Postcolonial Visual Culture: Arguments from India Arvind Rajagopal	302
Contributors	319
Index	325