Contents

Foreword
Yair Hirschfeld ix

Introduction: Conceptualizing the Political Economy of Regional Peacemaking
Norrin M. Ripsman and Steven E. Lobell 1

Chapter 1 The Economics of Peacemaking: Lessons from Western Europe and the Middle East
Norrin M. Ripsman 23

Chapter 2 The Second Face of Regional Peacemaking: Israel and Jordan, 1985–2001
Steven E. Lobell 35

Chapter 3 Economic Statecraft and Transitions to Peace: France, Germany, and Poland
Galía Press-Barnathan 49

Chapter 4 Making Peace with Nonstate Armed Actors: The Role of Economic Incentives
Marie-Joëlle Zahar 73

Chapter 5 Economic Incentives, Rivalry Deescalation, and Regional Transformation
William R. Thompson 96

Chapter 6 The Political Economy of Sino-Japanese Ties: The Limits and Risks of Economic Statecraft
Jean-Marc F. Blanchard 118
Chapter 7 Winning Hearts and Minds? On the Sources and Efficacy of Economic Engagement Policies in US-China and China-Taiwan Relations

Scott L. Kastner and Margaret M. Pearson

Chapter 8 Economic Statecraft as a Tool of Peacemaking? China’s Relationships with India and Russia

William Norris

Chapter 9 The Institutional Design of Preferential Trade Agreements and the Maintenance of Peace

Edward D. Mansfield and Jon C. W. Pevehouse

Conclusion: Economic Statecraft and Regional Peacemaking

Peter Dombrowski

Contributors

Index