

Contents

Introduction	i
Far-Right Hegemony	5
A Short History of Immigration to Denmark	8
Theoretical Framework: Heterogeneity of the Social and Empty Signifiers	10
Rhetorical Texture of Society: Discourse and Heterogeneity	12
Culturalization, Culture, and Identity	15
Race, Racism, and Islamophobia	18
Hegemony	19
Moral Panics and Crises	23
Data and Analysis	23
Chapters	28
Chapter 1. Discourse and Hegemony	31
Empty Signifier: Common Sense	32
Heterogeneity and Culturalized Discourse	36
Chapter 2. Crisis and Hegemonic Displacement	59
The Mid-1980s: A Turning Point	59
Crisis and Political Intervention	63
Moral Panics	65
The Political Landscape and Immigration Discourse Prior to and around 1984	67
Beginnings of a Moral Panic: 1984	71
Constructing Refugees as a Threat to Social Cohesion	74
The Media	79
The Discrepancy between Editorials and News Coverage	81
Culture and Immigration in 1984	84
Intensification of the Moral Panic around Refugees	87
Letters to the Editor: Distance between the Elite and the “People”	93
Populist Intervention	96
Populism and the Far Right	98

Chapter 3. Rhetoric of the Hegemonic Intervention	101
September 21, 1986: A Rhetorical Intervention	103
Right Time, “Wrong Target,” and Appropriate Rhetoric: Gaining Access to Discourse	107
Rhetorical Strategies	108
Après the Intervention: Culturalization and the Political Mobilization of the Far Right	117
The Far-Right Symbiosis	121
The Long-Term Effects of Krarup’s Intervention	123
The Focus Moves from Refugees (Victims) to Immigrants (Cultural Aliens)	125
A New Round of Crisis around Immigrants	129
Chapter 4. Culture, Ethnicity, and New Hegemony	138
Crises around Muslims, 1987–2001	142
Centrality of Culture in Immigration Discourse	143
Centrality of Immigration and Cultural Identity to Social Imaginary	150
Reimagining the Past	153
The Present: The Populist Right’s Vision Is the New Common Sense	159
2001: The Populist Vision Moves into the Center of Political Discourse	162
Gender and Sexuality as Core Danish Values	166
“Cohesive Force of Society” and Democracy	170
The Transformation of the Political Parties	172
The Crisis of the Center-Left	174
The Transformation of Immigrant Organizations: From Worker to Muslim	177
The Hegemonic Effect: Imagining the Future	179
Conclusion: “I Can’t Breathe”	183
The Hegemonic Displacement Is a Pan-European Phenomenon	190
Populism, Neoliberalism, and Democracy	194
Appendix 1: Declaration of Integration and Active Residency in Danish Society	199
Appendix 2: Krarup’s First Advertisement, Jyllands-Posten , September 21, 1986	202
Appendix 3: Krarup’s Second Advertisement, Jyllands-Posten , September 28, 1986	205
Notes	209
References	219
Index	231