

*Race, Republicans,
& the Return of the
Party of Lincoln*

THE POLITICS OF RACE AND ETHNICITY

Series Editors Rodney E. Hero, University of Notre Dame
Katherine Tate, University of California, Irvine

Politics of Race and Ethnicity is premised on the view that understanding race and ethnicity is integral to a fuller, more complete understanding of the American political system. The goal is to provide the scholarly community at all levels with accessible texts that will introduce them to, and stimulate their thinking on, fundamental questions in this field. We are interested in books that creatively examine the meaning of American democracy for racial and ethnic groups and, conversely, what racial and ethnic groups mean and have meant for American democracy.

The Urban Voter: Group Conflict and Mayoral Voting Behavior in American Cities
Karen M. Kaufmann

Democracy's Promise: Immigrants and American Civil Institutions
Janelle S. Wong

Mark One or More: Civil Rights in Multiracial America
Kim M. Williams

Race, Republicans, and the Return of the Party of Lincoln
Tasha S. Philpot

*Race, Republicans,
& the Return of the
Party of Lincoln*

Tasha S. Philpot

The University of Michigan Press Ann Arbor

Copyright © by the University of Michigan 2007
All rights reserved
Published in the United States of America by
The University of Michigan Press
Manufactured in the United States of America
⊗ Printed on acid-free paper

2010 2009 2008 2007 4 3 2 1

No part of this publication may be reproduced, stored in a retrieval system, or transmitted in any form or by any means, electronic, mechanical, or otherwise, without the written permission of the publisher.

A CIP catalog record for this book is available from the British Library.

Library of Congress Cataloging-in-Publication Data

Philpot, Tasha S.

Race, Republicans, and the return of the party of Lincoln /
Tasha S. Philpot.

p. cm. — (The politics of race and ethnicity)

Includes bibliographical references and index.

ISBN-13: 978-0-472-09967-2 (cloth : alk. paper)

ISBN-10: 0-472-09967-1 (cloth : alk. paper)

ISBN-13: 978-0-472-06967-5 (pbk. : alk. paper)

ISBN-10: 0-472-06967-5 (pbk. : alk. paper)

1. Republican Party (U.S. : 1854—)—Public opinion.
2. Republican National Convention (37th : 2000 : Philadelphia, Pa.)
3. United States—Race relations—Political aspects.
4. African Americans—Politics and government. I. Title.

JK2356.P47 2007
324.2734089—dc22

2006020162

To my mother, Marcia Philpot

Acknowledgments

I OWE A GREAT DEBT to many people without whom this book would never have been completed. First, I thank my dissertation committee. To Hanes Walton Jr.—mentor, exemplar, and father figure—thank you for sharing with me your endless knowledge of black politics and political parties. Second, I thank Michael Traugott for providing me with guidance, mentorship, and a healthy dose of humor. I also thank Nicholas Valentino and Vincent Hutchings. Working for and collaborating with them proved to be one of the most rewarding learning experiences of my graduate school tenure at the University of Michigan.

I am also grateful to many other scholars who aided in my intellectual growth. First, I thank Janet Boles, my undergraduate adviser at Marquette University, who encouraged me to pursue a career in academia. Second, I thank Nancy Burns and Donald Kinder for allowing me to participate in the National Election Study Fellows workshop and for providing me with funding to complete my dissertation research, which eventually evolved into this book. Finally, I thank Arthur Lupia for taking me under his wing. I only wish he had joined the faculty at Michigan earlier in my graduate career.

This book benefited greatly from financial support from the Howard Marsh Endowment, the University of Michigan's Department of Political Science, the National Election Study, the Gerald R. Ford Fellowship, the University of Michigan's Horace G. Rackham Graduate School, the Frank C. Erwin Jr. Endowment, and the University of Texas at Austin's Office for the Vice President for Research. I also thank Dara Faris, Jim Kelly, Ernest McGowen, Curt Nichols, and Bryan Tillman for their research assistance. In addition, I thank Jim Reische at the University of Michigan Press for his patience with and enthusiasm for this project from beginning to end as well as the anonymous reviewers for providing me with constructive feedback for improving on the original version of this book. Parts of an earlier version of chapter 1 were published in Political Behavior; excerpts from “A Party of a Different Color? Race, Campaign Communication, and Party Politics,” Political Behavior 26 (3): 249–70, are reprinted in this book with kind permission of Springer Science and Business Media.

I am extremely grateful for the support and friendship of a number of colleagues. I particularly thank Ryan Hudson, Amaney Jamal, Harwood McClerking, Brian McKenzie, Joan Sitomer, and Marek Steedman (aka the Dissertation Group); Sean Ehrlich; Gena Brooks Flynn; Mike Hanmer; Corrine McConnaughy; Irfan Nooruddin; Ismail White; and Rochelle Woods for helping me push this project along. I am also indebted to Gary Freeman, Terri Givens, Ted Gordon, David Leal, Bob Luskin, and Daron Shaw at the University of Texas at Austin and Karen Kaufmann from the University of Maryland for helping smooth out that bumpy transition from graduate student to assistant professor. Finally, I also thank some of my friends outside of the academy—Halima Henderson, Bridget McCurtis, and Ann Milo—for their encouragement and support over the years.

I owe the greatest debt of gratitude to my mother, Marcia Philpot. For as long as I can remember, she reinforced the importance of achieving excellence in all that I pursued and of using my success to give back. Although times were not always good, my mother always made sure my needs were met. Her sacrifices paved the way for me to succeed. Thank you for standing behind me and giving me a push when it was needed.

Finally, I thank my partner in life, Eric Leon McDaniel, whose love brings me endless happiness.

Contents

Introduction	Inclusion or Illusion?	1
1.	Toward a Theory of Party Image Change	10
2.	Party Politics and the Racial Divide	31
3.	Party Image over Time, Contemporary Party Images, and the Prospects for Change	62
4.	A Different Spin The Media's Framing of the 2000 Republican National Convention	84
5.	Seeing Is Believing? Reactions to the 2000 Republican National Convention	103
6.	One Step Forward, Two Steps Back The Compassionate Conservative versus the Florida Recount	123
7.	The Second Time Around Race and the 2004 Republican National Convention	136
8.	Working in Reverse Reshaping the Democratic Party	143
9.	The Final Tally Race, Party Image, and the American Voter	158
	Appendix	171
	References	195
	Index	205