

CONTENTS

Introduction	1
SECTION 1
First Foreclosures and Their Evidence: Trauma's Event	15
Trauma, Event, Method	17
Affect, Event, Method	22
Trauma/Transcendence: Life? or Theater? and Its Public	25
SECTION 2
First Sights: On Seeing Suicide before World War I	51
First Paintings: Charlotte Knarre	53
Empty Space as Window/Empty Space as Figural Space	59
Nothing Happened	62
Charlotte Knarre Throws Herself in the Water	66
First Things/Next Things	73
ARCHIVE I: FIRSTS, IN A SERIES
Moehsen on Suicide by Drowning, Marx on Women's Suicide, Wabnitz on Suicide as Critique	77
Émile Durkheim's Suicide as Event	86
Helenefriederike Stelzner and Her Analysis of Two Hundred Cases of Suicide	103
On Student Suicide and "Mourning and Melancholia"	111

SECTION 3

Waiting to See: The Visual Rhetoric of Suicide in Weimar Berlin	139
Franziska I & II	144
Franziska I: Documenting Nothing, Again	144
Franziska II: Documenting Nothing, Again, and Then Once More	154

ARCHIVE II: BERLIN'S NEW STATISTICS, JEWS, PREVENTION

Before the Census: Raphael Weichbrodt and Some Others	163
Berlin's 1925–1926 Census: Jews and Suicide Preventing Suicide	167
To the Letter: Notes on Writing Notes/Negotiations of the Grapheme	177
Striking Reasons: Suicide Records and the Visual Rhetoric of the Strike-Out	181
Noting (Striking) Suicide in Psychoanalysis Anna O.	189
Dora	198
The Psychogenesis of a Case of Homosexuality in a Woman (1920)	213

SECTION 4

Looking That Does Not End: Final Words	229
Frau Knarre: "Tonight or Never"	230
The Witness/Standing Next to and Stories of Origin	237
Feeling Gaze	240
P.S.: Postscripts	247
Final Words	250

Epilogue	253
----------	-----

Notes	261
-------	-----

Index	339
-------	-----

Illustrations following page 76