

Contents

	List of Abbreviations	ix
	Preface to the U.S. Edition	xi
	Acknowledgments	xvii
	Introduction: Power, Power Sharing, and Mass Crimes	I
PART I	Power-Sharing Occupation Administration and Persecution of the Jews
CHAPTER 1	German Occupation and the Persecution of the Jews in Western Europe, 1940–1944	29
CHAPTER 2	The German Occupation Administration in France after the Armistice of 22 June 1940	38
CHAPTER 3	The French Government and Administration and the “Collaboration”	43
CHAPTER 4	Establishing a Machinery of Persecution	47
PART II	The SS as Political Actor
CHAPTER 5	The SS in the Power Struggle with the Wehrmacht Administration, 1941/1942	59
CHAPTER 6	Sectoral Balance of Power and State Collaboration in the Persecution of the Jews: The Oberg-Bousquet Agreement of August 1942	82

PART III	Erosion of Power and the Emergence of Resistance
CHAPTER 7	The Protest of the Christian Churches and the Suspension of Eichmann’s Deportation Plan	149
CHAPTER 8	Another Attempt: The Project of a Denaturalization Law	180
CHAPTER 9	Italy’s Stance and Its Repercussions for the Persecution Measures against the Jews in France	185
PART IV	Strategic Occupation Policy and the “Final Solution to the Jewish Question”
CHAPTER 10	Safeguarding the Collaboration at the Expense of the “Final Solution”	219
CHAPTER 11	The Failure of the Denaturalization Law	229
CHAPTER 12	“Wild” Persecution of Jews	274
	Conclusion: Negotiated Mass Crime and the Power of Morality	281
	Short Biographies of the Key Actors	307
	Notes	311
	References	393
	Index	413