

Contents

Introduction	1
Chapter 1. “Antiquities, Which No Body Can Know”: Spenser’s Books and the Romance of the Past	19
Chapter 2. Dreaming of the Book in Cymbeline	47
Chapter 3. “Volumes That I Prize”: The Spaces of the Book and the Mind in The Tempest	76
Chapter 4. “A Booke Layd By, New Lookt On”: The Romance of Reading in Urania and Don Quixote	105
Conclusion	132
Notes	135
Bibliography	165
Index	179