Contents

Series Editor’s Preface vii
Acknowledgments ix

Introduction: Making and Knowing
Harold J. Cook, Pamela H. Smith, and Amy R. W. Meyers 1

ONE Making as Knowing: Craft as Natural Philosophy
Pamela H. Smith 17

TWO From Skills to Wisdom: Making, Knowing, and the Arts
Suzanne B. Butters 48

THREE Between Trade and Science: Dyeing and Knowing in the Long Eighteenth Century
Alicia Weisberg-Roberts 86

FOUR How to Cure the Golden Vein: Medical Remedies as Wissenschaft in Early Modern Germany
Alisha Rankin 113

FIVE Evidence, Artisan Experience, and Authority in Early Modern England
Patrick Wallis and Catherine Wright 138

SIX American Roots: Techniques of Plant Transportation and Cultivation in the Early Atlantic World
Mark Laird and Karen Bridgman 164
Contents

SEVEN Inside the Box: John Bartram and the Science and Commerce of the Transatlantic Plant Trade
   Joel T. Fry 194

EIGHT From Plant to Page: Aesthetics and Objectivity in a Nineteenth-Century Book of Trees
   Lisa L. Ford 221

NINE The Labor of Division: Cabinetmaking and the Production of Knowledge
   Glenn Adamson 243

TEN Making Lists: Social and Material Technologies in the Making of Seventeenth-Century British Natural History
   Elizabeth Yale 280

ELEVEN The Preservation of Specimens and the Takeoff in Anatomical Knowledge in the Early Modern Period
   Harold J. Cook 302

TWELVE Conrad Gessner on an “Ad Vivum” Image
   Sachiko Kusukawa 330

THIRTEEN Corals versus Trees: Charles Darwin’s Early Sketches of Evolution
   Horst Bredekamp 357

FOURTEEN Decay, Conservation, and the Making of Meaning through Museum Objects
   Mary M. Brooks 377

Epilogue: Making and Knowing, Then and Now
   Malcolm Baker 405

List of Contributors 415

Index 423